

Website Report on “Expert Talk on How to Conduct Research”

Title	Expert Talk on “How to Conduct Research” for the Accounting and Finance Faculty Members of Department of Management Studies
Date	February 04, 2017
Resource Person/Facilitator	Dr. V. K. Seth, Former Professor, FMS, New Delhi.
Summary	Research and Development activity plays an important role in the growth of an academicians and the institutions as well. A research not only increases personal knowledge but also contributes to the respective field. With this perspective, an Expert Talk was organized for the accounting and finance faculty members to bring about improvements in research, publication of research work and preparation of application for grants from various government bodies. Dr. Seth conducted a session on Research whereby the basics of research, certain pre-requisite for the research work like significance of original work, inclusion of classic names, probing into the work of others, finding out gap and trying to fill the same were deliberated upon. The importance of reading overlapping subjects and getting ones work published was also stressed. The faculty was imparted vital information pertaining to the prominence of Literature review, Quantitative Methods and Role of History in the research. In the end the expert addressed queries of the faculty members and gave them an idea about the latest research areas. The session widened the understanding of the faculties regarding the factors critical for the research which would certainly help them to conduct quality research in future.