Guest Lecture by SEBI- Financial Planning for Young Investors

Topic	Financial planning for Young Investors-SEBI for the students of BBA by Mr. Mandeep Gupta (certified trainer in SEBI)
Date of the Event	October 12, 2012
Lecture	The aim of the activity was to:- • provide students with knowledge about SEBI. • explain on how to plan finances to obtain best results. • Give information about the different securities available for investment in the market.
Description	Students in the workshop learnt about SEBI which is a regulatory body and its functions. The function of SEBI is to regulate the capital market The students also learnt about the financial planning process which starts with gathering financial data, identifying goals and risk appetite, identifying gaps, preparing a plan to bridge the gaps, implement the plan and review periodically. Mr. Mandeep also discussed the difference between smart and normal goals with the students. Different investment opportunities were discussed with the students so that they know how to invest in the market to get good financial results. The difference between needs and wants was also told to the students with the help of practical examples. The students also came to know about the difference between savings and investment with information about the fact that Indians are big savers but poor investors. Different kind of securities available in the market were also discussed with the students like equity, debentures, mutual funds, insurance related products and borrowing related products. It was an information loaded session for the students.