

“Guest Lecture on Oracle”

Topic :	Oracle database administration by Mr. Ranjeet Kumar, Technical Lead SQL Server DBA at HCL Technologies, Noida for students of MCA I,III and V
Date of event :	August 17, 2012
Aim of the Event :	The session aimed at lending insight to students into the field of database administration, role of a DBA and overview of the characteristics of Oracle DBMS
Description of the event :	Mr. Ranjeet discussed the various aspects of database administration in the session, depicting the key requisites of learning about database management systems in order to become database administrators (DBAs). He explained that a DBA's role includes designing database strategies, monitoring and improving database performance, planning for future growth requirements, and safeguarding the database from failures and disaster management. A Q&A after-session directed the students to learn oracle database management system.