

Web Report on Role Play for MBA I Sem (I Shift)

Title	Role Play Activity for MBA I Sem (I Shift), Section A & B
Date	August 22- August 31, 2017
Resource Person/Facilitator	Ms. Sonam Goel, CTP Coordinator
Summary	There are many ways in which a student can improve his knowledge about a particular subject matter. Some students understand better with the help of audio-visual examples and some understand better by handling practical problems themselves. Role Play is one such tactical method of learning. In this activity, students can explore various managerial skills while enacting specific situations. In this activity, students were divided into groups of 7-8 members each. Each group was then assigned a topic for their Role Play. Some of the topics given were like, advantages of good speaking skills, importance of working in teams, conflict management at workplace, etc. The students were evaluated on the parameters like focus on topic, group coordination, justice to role given, audience captivity and conclusion. Students were also given critical feedback regarding their performance, its relevance to the topic, about their body language, voice pitch, confidence, etc. Each group presented very good examples on the importance of managerial skills. The teams worked together in a cohesive manner and participated very enthusiastically.
