Part 1

Aim of the event :

Events can deliver beneficial impacts and outcomes both for the organisers and the host community, in addition to other stakeholders such as participants, spectators, faculties, etc. These different groups should be borne in mind when developing and planning events to maximise positive benefits arising from the event, which will in turn facilitate stakeholder support.

The main aim of Winterlude 2019 was to provide a relaxed environment which gave a break to the students and faculty members from their routine schedules. It facilitated the students to showcase their creativity in the form of games and food stalls. It also gave some students a chance to explore and develop their entrepreneurial skills. The event was aimed at inculcating in students-team spirit, team management and marketing skills.

RDIAS organized its winter carnival festival in the month of January. This event featured an array of memorable activities where the outdoors and giggling games were at the forefront. The event was like a breath of fresh air for every college student. All the students participated whole heartedly. They put off their worries of studies and enter the land of paradise for that one day. The event was aimed to ensure the overall development of students. Education is complete and achieves its purpose only when the students become equipped to meet the challenges in every field of life, be it educational, social or cultural while participating in extra co-curricular activities.

Abstract :

The event started with the inauguration ceremony where in the anchors firstly briefed about the event, and there in welcomed (Prof.) Dr. Raman Garg, Director to address the gathering. Sir addressed the students defining the importance of such events in the college life. Then, the ribbon ceremony was conducted wherein Prof. (Dr.) Raman Garg, Director RDIAS along with Dr. Manoj Gupta, Dean Admissions, Examinations and Administration, RDIAS and Ms., Swati Oberoi , Event Incharge Winterlude 2019 to cut the ribbon.

Winter Carnival is an event which gives the students an opportunity to challenge themselves. Students learn new things and develop new skills – and even if they don't win, they can still show what they have gained from the experience.

The month of January is coldest month in India, the day was started with the foggy morning but we were blessed by God having Sun during day time. The Winter Carnival was held with great enthusiasm, fun and frolic. The day was indeed a fun filled one with mouthwatering food stalls, games, and exciting prizes. The event was a memorable one as it offered a wide variety of games and food items.

The overall development of an individual has a lot to do with his/her exposure to practicality, which indeed helps in gaining confidence to meet professional challenges. An attempt to conduct such programme aims at grooming the students' personality and to provide them a platform to show creativity and enjoy.

Obviously , not everyone enters the competition for the sake of winning but to learn something.
