MDP on Analytics using R

TITLE	Submission of Web Report for MDP on Analytics using R
Resource Person/ Facolitator	Mr. Miklesh Yadav, Asst. Professor-RDIAS and Mr. Bhagat Singh, Asst. Professor-ICFAI.
Date	17/12/2018
Summary	Three days MDP on “Data Analytics using R” was conducted. RStudio is a free and open-source integrated development environment (IDE) for R, a programming language for statistical computing and graphics. RStudio was founded by JJ Allaire, creator of the programming language ColdFusion. Hadley Wickham is the Chief Scientist at RStudio. In current juncture, everyone is following this software as it is free of cost. It is easy to handle and use. R is a programming language, mainly dealing with the statistical computation of data and graphical representations. Many data science experts claim that R can be considered as a very different application, of its licensed contemporary tool, SAS. This data analytics tool was developed at Bell Laboratories, by John Chambers and his colleagues. The various offerings of this tool include linear and non-linear modelling, classical statistical tests, time-series analysis, clustering and graphical representation. The aim of the MDP was to provide participants with the methodological skills necessary for them to carry out independent research in terms of analytics using R and OBE. Mr. Miklesh Yadav, Asst. Professor-RDIAS and Mr. Bhagat Singh, Asst. Professor-ICFAI were guest speakers. Mr. Miklesh delivered a lecture on analytics using R on December 18, 2018 and Mr. Bhagat Singh delivered lectures on December 17 and 19, 2018. They made participants understand exemplifying practical examples through R software. The MDP was indeed an interactive and knowledgeable. The
