

Guest Lecture on Skills for 21st Century

TITLE	Guest Lecture on Skills for 21st Century
Date	Apr 18, 2019 - Apr 18, 2019
Summary	The Guest Lecture was organized in association with Center for Education Growth & Research (CEGR) to celebrate “Indian Education Festival” where we had the honour of having with us Mr Devinder Narain who gave the students an insight to the real world scenario and stressed upon gaining Practical Knowledge and skill sets which should be relevant to our industry, as each industry has different needs. Skills of a management professional have to be continuously improved upon due to the rapid emergence and adoption of disruptive technologies, frequent re alignment of geo politics and changing consumer behavior. Each individual has a special skill which may be inborn or acquired, but finding the right skill is essential to do a particular job in a professional manner. Even with the advent of Artificial Intelligence, there will be no adverse impact on employment unless the ingredients of human emotions are put into the machines. The problem solving ability which we human beings possess is the true asset and we must develop this further to have an advantage in times to come. The next generation of managers have to learn various skill sets, such as Leadership, Flexibility, Balancing and Prioritizing, Creativity and Imagination, and Critical Thinking. This session enlightened the students on the aspect that how can they prepare themselves for the Corporate in the days to come.
