Summary

Faculty Development Programmes (FDPs) aims at honing the teaching and research skills of prospective, new and seasoned management teachers, researchers and trainers. One Week FDP on Qualitative Analysis and Case Study was organized at RDIAS from 13th May to 17th May, 2019. The Qualitative Analysis is an approach used largely in the social sciences to explore social interactions, systems and processes. It provides an in-depth understanding of the ways people come to understand, act and manage their day-to-day situations in particular settings. In the initial two days, Dr. Tejinderpal Singh, Associate Professor, UBS delivered the lecture on Qualitative Analysis and provided hands on training on Atlas t. with regards to downloading of the software, importing data files and working on those files. On the 3rd and 4th day, session on Case Study was taken by Dr. Girish Taneja, Associate Professor, D.A.V. University. On the first day of his session Dr Taneja deliberated upon how to write an effective case study and on the second day the participating faculties were divided into groups to prepare case studies on various vibrant topics. On the culminating day, Professor Gurjeet Kaur from University of Jammu made an effective delivery on Paper Writing. The session was all about improving the quality of the paper to make it more effective. FDPs provide excellent opportunities to learn in a diverse professional environment. It was really an informative and knowledgeable event.
