

Elocution Competition: The Speech Weavers (Canceled)

TITLE	Elocution Competition: The Speech Weavers (Canceled)
Date	Nov 23, 2020 - Nov 23, 2020
Summary	Literary Club, RDIAS organized an Intra College Elocution Competition: The Speech Weavers on November 23'2020 from 4 pm to 6 pm for RDIAS students. It was a single round competition conducted on Google Meet. The topic for the elocution was conveyed to the participants a day before the competition. Participants were given three suggested key verses about which they could anchor their talk. They were free to use whichever verse they could best relate to, out of the following: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> “Not all those who wander are lost.” “The Answer to the ultimate question of Life, The Universe and Everything is...42!” “A bear, however hard he tries, grows tubby without exercise.” Participants were judged on the basis of their presentation and exposition skills. The event saw few but powerful entries. The judge for the event was Ms. Upasana Diwan. The winners of the event are: First Position: Ria Kochar, BBA V M B Second Position: Harshit Jain, BBA V M B Third Position: Rupal Saini, BBA V M B And yes, as very rightly said by one of the participants, true moment of epiphany is when one decides to ace his or her troubles, after all, exploration leads to clarity and not all those who wander are lost!!